me: Caleb: TRUE TO ITS NAME, EASTER SUNDAY HAD PLENTY OF SUN.

BUT WHAT ABOUT THE REST OF THE WEEK?

YOUR FORECAST IS NEXT.

[TAKE VO]

[CG :1 LINE KEY + BAR\UP NEXT...\HEROES WELCOME]

PLUS... THE HEARTWARMING STORY OF A 4-YEAR-OLD GIRL... A COMPLEX OPERATION... AND THE HEROES WHO STOOD BY HER SIDE

me: wow

Caleb: That's my tease for the c-block.

8:18 PM

me: that's actually really, like, 100 percent pretty much perfect in the Platonic sense of embodying some aspect

8:19 PM

Caleb: It's my chef d'oeuvre.

samantha.sterling: feeling reoriented?

samantha.sterling: ugh my neighbors are going at it again. how many times can a couple argue before they finally break up for good?

me: you should ask them me: get them to break up by posing questions of terrible significance samantha.sterling: hmm. an interesting idea me: and dark implications me: force them to think about the cruel and mercenary nature of human relationships me: also spike them with hallucinogens first me: see, I can solve any problems samantha.sterling: they don't deserve any free hallucinogens me: then give me some hallucinogens samantha.sterling: i would if i had any me: I haven't done any in years me: damn country

samantha.sterling: why is it the country's fault? i mean, usually blaming the country is quite right, but i don't see how it is applicable in this particular situation samantha.sterling: they can be found relatively easily me: it used to be a lot easier me: LSD, for instance

me: was being produced mostly by a mere handful of chemists me: and then several were busted in like 2002 me: meanwhile, people aren't really picking up the slack samantha.sterling: i don't know, it's been a really long time since i did acid. i was much more into mushrooms me: though LSD is an extraordinarily useful commodity that writers and artists and scientists need as a way to instigate counter-intuitive concepts me: so really, the country is losing out quite a bit me: if you know of any sources of hallucinogens, let me know, as they are helpful in deterring one from use of opiates samantha.sterling: i can make some inquiries for you me: very well

samantha.sterling: how did you stop in the past samantha.sterling: substitute LSD for the heroin?

me: no, haven't done LSD for years and years me: I just went through withdrawals and kept my mind on the absolute necessity of what I was doing in going without and the vast opportunities I have that would be lost to me i I couldn't get off me: I'm not really addicted right now though me: just need to not get addicted samantha.sterling: i'm not really sure about getting acid. mushrooms maybe samantha.sterling: would that do?

me: absolutely me: sorry for delayed responses, got a bunch going on here samantha.sterling: of course. no worries.

samantha.sterling: i'm watching ed wood. good movie.

me: just talked to another fellow who has his own network, or planning one, or some such me: I could tell just from his voice that he's a lightweight
